RESOLUTION TITLE (limited to 5 words): Tribal sovereignty

BE IT RESOLVED THAT:

Support Indigenous tribes' rights to self-government, including the generation of revenue to serve their people and the protection of the natural resources they depend on.

- The land that makes up Minnesota was taken by white settlers from the Dakota, Anishinaabe, and Ho-Chunk peoples through violence and coercion, often in violation of the treaties between these tribal communities and the federal government.
- These treaties, which guarantee the tribes their self-government and the protection of the natural resources their health and cultures depend on, are the law of the land.
- Minnesota's state and local governments must honor these treaties and not make policy decisions that could violate these treaty rights, which include but are not limited to the generation of revenue and the ability to safely fish, hunt, and gather resources on treaty lands.
